B. Fundamentación Científica

Since and For

For y Since son dos preposiciones que se utilizan con el presente perfecto y presente continuo.

For:

Significa "desde hace" o "durante" y se usa con un período de tiempo, por ejemplo: ten minutes, two hours, one day, a month, a year, a long time....

Presente Perfecto

Example:

I have lived here since 2006 (Yo)he vivo aquí desde 2006)

I've waited for an hour

She has lived in Alicante for a long time (ella vive en alicante desde hace mucho)

We've worked in the same company for two years (trabajamos en la misma empresa desde hace dos años)

Pres. Perf. Continuo	I've been waiting for an hour (he esperado durante una hora / llevo esperando una hora) He has been working for two hours. (Él ha estado trabajando desde hace dos horas)
Since: Significa " desde " o " desde que " y se usa para señalar un momento concreto en el tiempo, por ejemplo: 10 o'clock, Tuesday, 2nd January, August, 200, we arrived, I was ten years old.... Presente Perfecto	Example: I haven't eaten anything since 10 o'clock (no he comido nada desde las 10) We haven't seen each other since 2001 (no nos hemos visto desde 2001) I've been living in Spain since I was ten years old ((yo)he estado viviendo en España desde que tenía 10 años)
